Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, June 4, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Let the pencil run across the paper – did it ever lack inspiration? This source that flows from our united hearts is properly expressed. Nothing here should be obscured. Without going into detail, we can say that this is how it is; humans often limit themselves to their own view of things.

Within our Mission, it is necessary – for what is essential – to adjust oneself to what is proposed for the good of all. To progress is the priority, so it seems; is it not the desired objective! Each and every person in their own manner organises their life, including a practice that has proven its worth. The commitment of the heart is decisive; without it, the practice would be reduced to a behaviour of limited effect. Surrender to the Master brings the necessary touch to a method that is conclusive in all that this spiritual path proposes. As in all things, time shows what is important and what of real efficacy is achieved for this entire Mission.

Perfection is not of this world; we are realistic, but it is worth truly striving for by working and going in the right direction – for humanity and the good of each one. These thousands of messages are not given in vain; their action is growing, and they help our brothers and sisters in their daily lives. The Masters, whether incarnate or not, participate in this feast; the progress of our brothers and sisters is the aim of all our actions. May love blossom in all hearts and allow each one to move forward, carried by a subtle and redeeming energy capable of leading them to the highest level. Reaching this perfect state requires effort; nothing is done in vain, the smallest effort counts, nothing is lost, everything is to be considered. One day, the divine purpose will be achieved, under our constant blessings.
