My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, June 7, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

An incarnate Master has great capabilities, being equipped with a more direct power of action; there lies the strength of our Mission in current times, still needing such a power. The future will be organised differently, and the transmission of divine energy will be accomplished in another manner, directly somehow. So will it be, inevitably, and that very distant future will bring about elements that human beings of today would find absolutely staggering.

"Our way is creating a choice place for itself, and its action for the good of humanity will be great. This prospect is very encouraging, and we are preparing it as best we can. May our abhyasis have a glimpse of it in their own manner and contribute positively to it. A day will come when life will change on this planet; this is not for tomorrow, but why not consider it in a very positive way? We are already working towards it in the best possible manner. Past centuries brought about that which exists now, and this present action is positive in the sense that the best is foreseeable for the benefit of humans. More refined beings will be reincarnated here below, and they will have already travelled a true spiritual path. This status will lead them to play a decisive role for the general good. Everything matters and is highly precious, as your current approach contributes to human evolution. Isn't this prospect delightful? May all be motivated for their own good and that of our entire Mission which will hold a choice place. This is how it is and as it is wished by the divine powers."

Babuji Maharaj