Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, June 26, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Over time, some of our abhyasis realise the importance of these messages. It is time, precisely, that shapes the world, while also shaping our brothers and sisters who are on the path. The commitment of each one is key, as it generates in the heart significant changes which we fully appreciate. We do see the progress made, the transformations. Gradually, the being is shaped, rising to a vibration that is more in line with its own resonance. Subtle bodies have a code, one might say; they appreciate what is offered them and they adapt to this trajectory — one that is not ephemeral, but crucial for arriving at the highest point. To rise is the profound yearning of a beautiful soul. There lies its sole purpose, the true and decisive one in such a process where precious time is saved in the evolution of one and all.

"Who is the human being in the face of eternity? A divine manifestation on the material plane that ennobles a soul for the rest of its journey towards the blessed stage of perfection. All this is complex, so we will leave it at that. However, our aspirants should know that by being committed to such a practice, they save very precious time. Nothing at this level can be exactly defined here below. May all be reassured and happy; Sahaj Marg opens up good prospects for them. We do not offer dreams, but a reality, one that is truly appreciable. Blessings to all."
