My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, July 6, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Plunge into this ocean of peace and love where your heart delights, as it must regain serenity for this message to be written. The ritual is always the same, and yet the vibration of these writings varies over time. Hearts are touched by it, each in its own manner and more subtly than it appears. Thus this vibration wins over a reserved place where the best can be achieved. Nothing is done in vain in our Mission. The aspirant cannot grasp all the nuances of this special work, yet the results are real. What more can we ask, except for an ever-growing commitment from our brothers and sisters who are led by the flow of our redeeming energy in the conquest of the spirit!

"These days of rest are meant to facilitate a deeper interiorisation, a reflection on what is brought about in Earthly life by a spiritual process like this — one that is undemanding, yet productive. Only time makes real assessment possible; moments of awareness are milestones on this unparalleled journey. A day will come when all our brothers and sisters who are following in our wake will be able to verify the truth of the situation, and their hearts will rejoice. We are listening to them — not as they would like in many cases, but that which is essential is being done, believe me. Each one's path is taking shape and becoming clearer with time, and we grant it its true colours. This is how it goes; blessings to all."

Babuji Maharaj