My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, July 13, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Birthday celebrations are important in life, some more than others; they can be significant steps, decisive for one's course. In Sahaj Marg, it is appropriate to honour the Masters. All deserve special attention and should be properly celebrated. These special days are meant to bring our brothers and sisters together and allow them to commune in a state of respect and love for the Master. None of these days should ever be forgotten; they are special moments in a way like ours.

"Working towards the cohesion of this path and its expansion in the world is the greatest asset of all. The determination of each person is important; our brothers and sisters who are motivated and doing their best are a positive and creative force. Blessed are all the faithful and motivated hearts — in a certain way, they are carried. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être? Life is short compared to eternity. Working for the good of a beautiful and great cause makes it worthwhile to be alive and to face up to the challenges of existence. We will keep on repeating that in this area, love must be cultivated as the primary emotion. Blessed are those who understand the underlying reason for this commitment which lends a special light to an incarnation. In this process the best is achieved; may all be carried and blessed."

Babuji Maharaj