Whispers from The Brighter World

All this positive feedback about the messages puts a balm on your heart; we are happy to see the progress in the hearts of our fervent abhyasis. A magic chain is thus established between all those who are nourished by them on a daily basis. A time will come when the action of this magic chain will be increased tenfold to counter the energy pervading in this world. More subtle vibrations will prevail on Earth, and a vast movement will develop, bringing about many changes for the good of a humanity that is currently in disarray. Many vibratory disturbances are creating an environment that is destabilising for human energies, as well as others. We are particularly concerned with the human energies.

"Practice cannot remedy everything, but it creates a sort of protection in the energy structure that is important for the balance of each person. So-called progress not only brings advantages, it also destabilises a delicate balance that is necessary for the life of each person. Our brothers and sisters have this refuge — the practice. While it does not protect one from everything, it most certainly helps to a significant extent, every day. Nothing is easy for anyone; here below, nobody escapes the law of karma. Getting involved in a spiritual process like this one is, in its own way, a protection. Although it is not visible, our help is given — discreet and yet active in its own way. At the cusp of two worlds, that which must be is taking place in the best possible preparation of the beings who trust us. May all be strengthened in their faith in their Master and in this Mission whose effects are out of the ordinary. We wish the best to everyone, with much love and attention towards all."
