Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, August 9, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Life on this Earth is what it is; here, we are acting at a higher level that is decisive for human evolution. A huge task remains to be done, and we are working towards it as best as possible in this spiritual way so special in its effects. When followed and understood properly, it brings transformations that are barely visible yet decisive for the evolution of beings committed to this action. These continuously repeated acts have their importance; nothing great and beautiful can be achieved here below without this constant perseverance in effort and steadfastness. This illusory world is full of pitfalls. Truly adhering to the practice requires a personal commitment and a real aspiration for the Divine. This aspiration does not remain unanswered; one way or another, it manifests and becomes tangible to the aspirants, often where they did not expect it.

These messages are intended to help our brothers and sisters. Although not understood by everyone right away, over time they have made their way into people's hearts and have become important in their lives – quite simply, one might say. Staunch abhyasis need this daily input, confirming for them the need to progress and go beyond the material realm, even if it is satisfactory. Not everything can be settled here below – far from it. It is good to consider perspectives that go well beyond life on Earth. Committing fully to this way of the heart is more than wise, and is decisive for the progress of each one. All are helped according to their call; we are very attentive to it, you can be sure. So it is.

All our blessings.
