Be surrendered, my dear daughter, nothing can change the course of events, whether good or bad. The wheel of life turns with its trail of events which often turn out differently from what we imagine. The only thing to be done is to beseech divine grace and to take tests as blessings. Our program is not very heartening, certainly not to your liking, but that is the way it goes. In the future, a new world will be built. The set up will have to be changed; you will need to face up to things and adapt yourself. It is in certain circumstances that beings really reveal what they are. The strongest will have to help the weakest. They will have the opportunity to show their true face. It is easy to be good and generous when all is well. In general, the reaction in dramatic circumstances is 'every man for himself'. Some very sturdy souls react differently. We try in small touches to make you understand that the future is no bed of roses. My dear children, we will always be close to you. The destiny of each one must be fulfilled. That is the way it goes, it is the divine law, and no human can escape it. Be at peace, my child. I carry you in my heart."

The Medium: "How should I take this message, Babuji?"

"For what it is: a warning for the future."
