Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, September 13, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

After this long journey of messages, serenity and serenity alone should now prevail. These messages have been given for a specific purpose: to help, in another manner, our brothers and sisters. All, without exception, can quench their thirst with these writings; our aspirants are provided with different means for this purpose. From the very beginning, my great and very dear son was quick to realise the importance the messages would assume in the Mission, and as he has so aptly pointed out, they have often inspired him. The higher voices know what they are doing; their purpose is related to helping people progress in their quest for the Divine. Everyone has this deep aspiration. Even if all do not take this into account, so many noble souls are still making progress and becoming stronger in the process.

"Nothing in this area is insignificant, even on a page like this one where such comments may seem trivial. Everything matters, you can be sure; we are working for the good of all. Each person is nourished by these messages, according to his or her capacity, and over time each one develops more sensitive perceptions. Perseverance is a great quality, a strength; without it, what would this world be today? Probably a desert. Humans have always struggled and persevered — all in all, their success lies in this. Our brothers and sisters who are committed to this process are sufficient evidence of it. Blessings to all."
