My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, September 18, 2014 — 9:30 a.m.

This day is special for you. It does not alleviate your suffering, but all these testimonies you are receiving touch you because they point to the main aspect of your current life — these messages. They are received against all odds; only a special love can make this possible.

"The power of such an energy is sovereign, and it carries beings touched by grace who are, for good reason, committed to divine service. This epic will leave its mark on our Mission. Beautifying the hearts of our brothers and sisters and strengthening their faith and personal commitment is the best that can happen for their future evolution. Our work in this world has no other purpose. Seeing beautiful souls opening up to divine splendour is an unparalleled joy. It is like a flower opening under the rays of the sun. A heart that is won over by such love is adorned with its best finery. Nothing is too beautiful or too good for our faithful aspirants. Their journeys will mark this time, leaving an imprint that is among the most subtle in the kingdom of victorious love.

"May all find peace and serenity, against all odds. The refuge of faith has no equal. The living Master carries in his wake valiant hearts, who are haloed with an energy that is so beautiful and subtle that it will defy time. All have access to the best and are carried by this unique energy, not easily visible to human eyes. It is unequalled, you can be sure. May all be carried and strengthened under our blessings."

Babuji Maharaj