Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, September 27, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

All these beautiful testimonies from around the world – are they not comforting! Beyond matter there is a subtle energy with which these writings are imbued. Many of our brothers and sisters perceive it and they feed on it abundantly. Everything has its raison d'être in a spiritual path like ours; nothing is done in vain at this level. Human beings need such nourishment to comfort them on their journey. A profound longing for the Divine is gradually revealed in each one. Blessed are those who embark on such a path, where they are led to this sacred union with the Master and, by extension, with the entire Hierarchy of Great Beings dedicated to this beautiful conquest of the sovereign spirit.

What is good for human beings will finally prevail here. Amid so much ugliness, there exists a privileged space where the best can be accomplished in the sense of the elevation of souls. We guide and protect them in our own manner – they are helped in many circumstances without it appearing so. Not everything can be avoided, the Great Beings are proof of it, but that is the way it is; for reasons incomprehensible to humans, divine laws cannot be circumvented. Whatever may happen, it is necessary to accept one's fate. A human being is enriched by trials, even if it is difficult to accept them. May all our brothers and sisters never cease growing in wisdom, such is our fervent wish. To see them gradually progress, without their even realizing it, is a great joy for us.

Special blessings to them on this special day.
