These messages have, and will have over time, a scope which you cannot imagine; they will remain a real asset for our Mission. So many changes will occur. These writings, preserved in a safe place, will constitute a teaching for all those who truly wish to pay attention to them. Everything has its raison d'être; this is an important fact that will be confirmed in the future. May all appreciate the true value of these messages and benefit from an extraordinary teaching; such is our wish for this beautiful, great and evolving Mission."
