Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, November 8, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Problems of every nature are inevitable in this world; what matters is the goal to be reached and the path leading one to success in this approach. Nothing is ever easy – for anyone. The Great Beings themselves are not spared, as history has sufficiently demonstrated. Such are the divine laws; it is up to each one to understand this and act accordingly. Progressing brings new insight regarding the attitude one should have. To all, the best, and our unceasing support.
