My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, December 23, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

The Sahaj Marg Mission is going through a special time. Our brothers and sisters should rest assured that all is well for our great son, their revered Master, as well as for themselves. Life carries on at all levels; the Sahaj Marg way is expanding and its future gives good cause for rejoicing. The commitment of our brothers and sisters is crucial, and so many of them are motivated and achieving the best. This great unifying movement will leave its mark on this time, and the future holds a choice place for it amidst a humanity that is now greatly troubled; hereafter it will be cleansed of so many evils, so much violence and turbulence of all kinds. Many events will occur to make human beings realise what they must do in order for this world to change and find its appropriate position, one that is meant to promote human evolution. Everything has long been planned. Was it not stated already that spirituality will save the world! Hatred, violence and all similar evils currently have a disastrous hold on many people. One day, it will actually become imperative to revert to more correct notions, to values necessary for the welfare and evolution of the human being.

"The Mission is furthering its action; the power of the Masters provides for it, and the action of the incarnate Master confirms, in its own manner, that which we inspire in him. Your new Master is already enlightened. He is carried by our love which henceforth guides him in accomplishing his mission, one that will be up to our expectations, which is to say: brilliant and very positive for the entire Mission, which is being monitored by us at every step with all the love possible.

"May surrender and love lead all our brothers and sisters to the best in their evolution, carried along and supported by the incarnate Master, who is henceforth vested with the powers that we bestow on him.

"May a far-reaching surge of love rise towards the great Parthasarathi who is always attentive to all of you. The Mission continues on its journey; all is well, and thus has it been planned for a long time in order to achieve the best.

"To all of you, the combined blessings from the entire hierarchy, united and effectively active in the service of one and all. May our abhyasis come together and truly support one another on this unique journey. Special blessings to all."

Babuji Maharaj