A new life begins here without in any way changing the special relationship that ties me to each one of you. The Sahaj Marg Mission forms a whole, a special energy that is strong and constructive; it is good to regain the power of action that was diminished by a terminal stage of life on Earth that was rather difficult to bear. It had to be that way. It is not easy in human terms to understand why such tests are necessary. Each one leads his or her life as best as possible, and in this there is great diversity. Yet it all comes back to the same goal, that which is essential in every incarnation — the elevation of the soul towards its highest destiny.

"My journey on Earth was long, but serving the Mission by the grace of higher powers is the noblest reward of all. My Divine Great Master, Babuji Maharaj, was always by my side, providing support in a very personal manner, and with so much love and respect. His greatness cannot be described, as it is so very special. As the highly revered Lalaji told him, his apparent simplicity concealed his true personality, one that is beyond human description.

"Being among all these beings provides an indescribable happiness that does not prevent [me] from remaining attentive to loved ones and the entire Mission, whose multitude is united in our hearts forever so that they may be granted the best that is possible. Being reborn in this world is an amazing grace. There are no words to describe such joy. Being released from physical sufferings is a great step forward; the full attention of all of us here is focused on the entire Mission which is so close to our hearts. May all be assured and happy to know that their Master Parthasarathi is in the best possible condition, surrounded by so much love emanating from our revered Masters and loved ones whom I rejoin here, to my greatest delight. Every blessing from Parthasarathi — one who was, and will always be, attentive to you, dearest ones."
