Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, January 1, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

My dear daughter, we have called on you a great deal lately. The current circumstances in the Mission called for some singular interventions in order to reassure our brothers and sisters. We believe we have done so successfully, informing them that their Master was finally released from a painful situation on the material plane and reborn among us. To be freed from the world of matter and to return to the world of the Spirit is the apotheosis of a life so well lived.

"Each of us brought to this Mission that which was needed at the time. Our successor will do the same. His scope of action will be very broad, but increasingly organised to manage the various worldly aspects of this special and expanding path. We will always be very attentive to the various elements whose importance is to be carefully considered. This blessed son will act appropriately; he has our trust, and his potential will rise to the occasion — we have no doubt about it.

"Being in this world is not easy, as we have all experienced, but getting involved in a path like this, and in this manner, is an indescribable blessing. We do not want to overtax you. Dear scribe, be happy for your Master Parthasarathi and delighted to know that his successor, dear Kamlesh, is ready to get busy with the task of managing this Great Work magnificently. Our very special blessings to all our brothers and sisters."
