Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, January 12, 2015 – 7:00 p.m.

New opportunities will open up in the future for our Mission. Everything will gradually take its place and the Mission will pursue its course, expanding its capabilities. To restructure, to strengthen the existing greatness, will be the goal to reach, and our dear Kamlesh, the vested Master, will achieve it brilliantly. We will guide him over the course of days, and the persons in charge will support him in his action for the general good. Let him get his bearings – he will accomplish great things; this has been planned, and it makes us happy.

Our dear and great Parthasarathi approves; he regains the joy of watching over the Mission and providing his support in every respect to the one who succeeds him as incarnate Master for this beautiful way of the heart – a way whose available resources have yet to be discovered in their totality. Spiritual evolution in this world will call on this extraordinary path that offers an active practice not yet fully utilised. Everything will come in its own time. Let us trust that all our brothers and sisters will be even more committed to this journey, the importance of which many of them do not yet totally realise.

May each of our brothers and sisters become fully aware of the opportunity offered to them, and seize their good fortune; we will support them as best as possible – what must be will be.

Special blessings to our dear Kamlesh and to each of our aspirants, for the best that can be. So it is.
