Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, February 2, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

This birth anniversary fosters contemplation, and this leads in some cases to experiencing unusual mystical states. Some of our abhyasis, you being one of them, have had such experiences. A deep and sincere commitment, surges of love, can lead the being to experience extraordinary moments, and some individuals can attest to this. Time will allow the beneficial effects of these phenomena to go deeper. The path of Sahaj Marg has far more resources than it would seem; the future will make way for an adjustment as far as all these states are concerned. An expansion of consciousness will change the face of things; an unprecedented mutation will occur, leading here below to transformations unimaginable today. This moment will be worth living – it will come, you can be sure of it .

Humanity cannot remain confined to its current state of evolution, where hatred and violence dominate endlessly without bringing about real changes. The reign of peace will one day establish itself on this planet, which will know numerous transformations – at every level. Let us work ceaselessly so that humans can reach another status, one that will allow them to go deeper into the laws governing this world, and by extension those of the universe in all its creative complexity. Humans are so small in the face of it. They please themselves in imagining they are powerful. Some of them have demonstrated their illusions regarding this 'power' and continue to do so. It is illusory; evil comes at a great cost. It is up to each one to become aware of their true smallness, to defer to the Divine, to the Master who represents it and allows them to save precious time.

Very special blessings to all on this special day.
