Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, February 15, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

My dear daughter, please do not give up. Your efforts are not in vain. Not only are these messages appreciated by our abhyasis — there are sufficient testimonies to prove it — but they are also a real asset for our Mission. They have been repeated over the course of days for so many years that they have become a ritual whose memory will be retained over time, you can be sure of it. A message like this is a grace, and it is received as such by many of our brothers and sisters. Fervent hearts are nourished by it, and they sense its extraordinary vibration — a vibration that distinguishes these messages from many other writings. The human being still has many things to discover; mankind is far from being at the pinnacle of knowledge. We are working towards it in our own manner; one day the truth will be revealed for the good of all.

"A spectacular advancement will occur. It is time to give more importance to human evolution than to devices of all kinds, some of which destabilise the balance of energies of all that lives on Earth. The complexity of creation is not grasped in all its subtlety. The era of enlightenment will come, and it will surprise a lot of men and women in their respective human struggles. All should persevere, as everything is counted. Goodness must prevail in order for this world to change, and the world is waiting for that miracle.

"May we contribute to it in our own manner. May all be strengthened and blessed."
