Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, February 19, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Time leads human beings – with the life experience they acquire – to a better understanding of where true values lie. Not all realise it, but nothing is lost in these long initiatory journeys where each one advances towards his or her destiny; everything is written and cannot be circumvented. Following a spiritual path allows one to adapt to certain necessities, including the true meaning of an incarnation. Joys and sufferings have their raison d'être – they are jewels whose true value cannot be estimated by humans. A day will come when light will be fully shed on the vagaries of each one's destiny. Blessed is the wise person who can cope with the difficulties of an Earthly existence and draw the necessary lessons from them.

Following a spiritual path opens up perspectives; thus everything takes on its meaning and gradually reveals the reasons for this unavoidable life experience. Humans are passing through here below. They come to learn a lesson. Each of their incarnations is decisive, enabling them to truly build themselves in order to move towards a future that is mysterious to everyone – mysterious, yet very important for each one because of the opportunity granted to surpass oneself in all respects and gradually achieve the satisfactory level of evolution, offering choices for the continuation of one's journey.

May peace and joy flood hearts in spite of everything, since what is essential remains immutable.
