Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, March 23, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

The entire hierarchy rejoices in what the future will bring to this unparalleled way, one that is unique in its effects on hearts that are waiting for the best in order to overcome the miasma of a material world — a world that is so saddening. Nothing is gained without difficulty; this is not new. Some abhyasis are moving faster than others, because they are more committed and motivated. However, all of them undoubtedly benefit from the same grace and the timeless help of our joint action — action that is meant to uplift to the highest each of the individual members of this Mission of Sahaj Marg. We expect the best from one and all. Each one acts according to his or her abilities, but all are united in this huge chain that will one day embrace the world, for the welfare and elevation of each one.

"This is how it is."
