Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, March 23, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

The entire hierarchy rejoices in what the future will bring to this unparalleled way, unique in its effects on hearts awaiting the best in order to overcome the miasma of such a saddening material world. Nothing is gained without trouble; this is not new. Some abhyasis move faster than others, being more invested and motivated. But all, you can be sure, benefit from the same grace and the timeless help of our action, combined to carry to the highest each of the members of this Sahaj Marg Mission. We expect the best from all. Each acts according to his or her abilities, but all are united in this immense chain that will one day cover the world, for the good and elevation of each one.

So it is.
