Whispers from The Brighter World

Yes, mediums abound in our Mission, but you are and you will remain our elected scribe. It has always been love alone — this powerful bond between our hearts — that has determined this unprecedented action, one that is unique and important. There are different levels of channelling, as one should know, and the highest one is not accessible to all. Only by divine grace can channelling rise higher and express itself in a lasting manner. The work accomplished here has become one of the most beautiful jewels in this Mission of Sahaj Marg. The great number of these writings is quite exceptional, and we are happy for that. This fully meets our expectations.

"This special teaching has always been given with the aim of helping the largest number of people, because the teaching goes beyond the boundaries of our Mission today and will do so even more tomorrow. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! To work out of love with greatest selflessness is very commendable. Contrary to what you believe, your life has not been useless. It is not necessarily important to run about the world in order to serve the higher powers who are attentive to many other criteria with regard to this very special work.

"We are at your side, my dear daughter; you are giving your best until the end, carried by our love which will always be with you. Dear soul, may you and all others be blessed."
