Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, April 11, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried away by the divine breath. It permeates these messages, the only ones that are recognised by the Hierarchy of Masters – this has to be emphasised here once more. This fact is to be considered: these writings are and will remain a reference in the Sahaj Marg Mission, at present and in the future. Our choices are not made in vain. They are appreciated and valued accordingly by many pure hearts – to not recognise them is to go against our choices. Nothing is ever simple here below; this fact characterises humanity in all its manifestations. It has always been so. This world is not the one of delights and perfection; a constant work is performed there to elevate its level and have it access more clear-sightedness and wisdom.

These writings touch many of our brothers and sisters. Pure hearts, while reading them, benefit from a subtle vibration that cannot be humanly defined. The heart, seat of the soul, still remains a mystery, and will for a long time. It holds secrets that would surprise many researchers. Science has not reached the end of its discoveries. In the future, they will become deeper, to advance towards the understanding of phenomena whose complete truth is currently unimaginable. Another page of history will be known one day; to prepare that time also means to save time. Humanity must elevate itself to access this true knowledge, one so very far from certain clichés that are outside of reality.

All in good time; everything has its raison d'être. The heart keeps its secrets, and the work of Sahaj Marg enables advancement in this knowledge – such is the aim of our action.

May all be enlightened and blessed.
