Whispers from The Brighter World

Let this blazing flame burn in you — it is your motivation here below. Isn't such love decisive in any action of this kind! Following a spiritual path entails commitment on the material plane, but not only on that level. Love, such love, is what is most important. It engages the being in a process that meets his or her deepest aspirations; such aspirations can take one very far when they are appropriately recognised and honoured.

"It often takes time to understand, to truly understand oneself and to manage to divest oneself of that which is useless and which, indeed, hampers one's evolution. The seeker has to make choices; when wisdom manages to prevail, everything becomes clearer and there is no time to waste. Life is short; the opportunity is available to everyone to progress, to broaden their knowledge, and above all to find their way — one in which their deeper spiritual aspirations can flourish and fulfil a heart in need.

"For many fervent beings, this Mission of Sahaj Marg meets such expectations. Is the way of the heart not wisdom itself; in a simple fashion, it achieves the best, and everyone receives according to their yearning. In this, love is the redeeming energy. It accomplishes that which does not seem possible, and yet we can see the results in our abhyasis, who are advancing according to their wishes and commitment. Everything is possible — you have to believe it, and especially to want it.

"Blessings to all."
