Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, April 28, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

May the time come of plenitude, harmony and peace on this Earth. Centuries pass and human beings still cultivate this hatred so destructive and harmful to their own evolution. How to make them aware of this need for harmony for the good of all? Must everything disappear and later re-emerge to bring goodness here below? One might think so. Committing to a spiritual path is a first step. Although harmony does not necessarily prevail within Sahaj Marg – as in every other path – an effort is being made; here, important work is being accomplished; it prepares this promising future for the elevation of humanity.

The worlds differ, and there are many of them, contrary to what humans believe. Why would this planet be the only inhabited one? Humans believe they have reached the pinnacle of knowledge, but such is not the case. Many ideas and certainties acquired today will have to be reconsidered with the evolution to come; light will be shed on many topics for the good of all. Everything in its time. Would a person of the Middle Ages have imagined what life is today, in all its aspects? 'Only spirituality will save the world' – this quote is and will remain relevant, and this visionary could not have said it better. Let us work more than ever for the welfare of all; spirituality is rich with benefits, and beings open to its many possibilities find their way. Sahaj Marg is non-sectarian in the true sense of the word, and it offers many possibilities; it is up to each one to claim them for themselves.

Endless blessings.
