Let us repeat it: these seminars are high points in our Mission, uniting hearts in this very special energy that characterises Sahaj Marg. They are a blessing for the entire Mission and beyond. Many souls unite with us; abhyasi brothers and sisters of the past, having joined us but still attentive to the life that was theirs on Earth, recapture their former ritual on this occasion and thus enjoy our blessings. Ashrams and places of meditation become particularly charged on these blessed days. We want the best for all our brothers and sisters invested in this extraordinary movement that will not cease growing for the good of the greatest number.

These messages are a precious asset. Many ardent hearts draw nourishment from them and thereby fully benefit from the energies they carry. Nothing is done in vain in a spiritual way like ours; acting for the good of all by bringing them convincing elements can only foster each one's progress. A particular work is done in this Mission; it cannot be described, but it does take place, you can be sure. Time takes care of proving our words. Many beings rise up through this process: a simple approach capable of generating the best and taking each one of them where they did not think they would go – that is to say, up to bliss. In this field, nothing is in vain. An ardent soul is guided and reaches the level hoped for.

With blessings to all and a happy end to the seminar.
