Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, May 20, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

A seminar of such a magnitude in this country is not commonplace; this is a good beginning. The hearts of many abhyasis have joined the gathering, thereby strengthening its egregore. Anything that contributes to the expansion of the Mission is very positive. The times ahead will lead our aspirants to gather together on a more frequent basis, to meet a growing call. Spirituality meets the personal needs of today, as many hearts are turning towards higher values, far from a materiality that is disconcerting in many respects. Oases of peace and love, as in large gatherings of this kind, are very beneficial for all. May they be repeated in this country and also take place elsewhere so as to meet a real demand from many abhyasis.

"India has always been a beacon of spirituality; this is how it is, one might say. In the future, it will become the centre of this unprecedented [spiritual] action. It will be a land of refuge. After many upheavals, an important action will unfold there, promoting an expansion of consciousness that has long been planned and wished for. The sanctuaries of Sahaj Marg will have a major importance and play an unprecedented role in our history. The current Master will be inspired accordingly, and everything will take its place naturally.

"Special blessings to all."
