Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, May 27, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

We support you every day. What you still manage to achieve delights all of us here who watch over your dear person. Do not feel embarrassed by these comments; don't you realise the impact of these messages on the many hearts that are open to their subtlety? This heavenly manna is, and will remain, a precious asset for our Mission, defying time. Many changes will occur in the future. Sahaj Marg will evolve over time but will keep its spirit and its original nature. It will be appreciated for its ease of access, including a non-demanding practice that only asks what is needed to maintain one's contact with the higher spirit — that which is represented by this way of the heart whose effects are extraordinary and whose current Master will help implement its key elements for the future.

"In spite of everything, a new era is emerging amid the chaos of modern life — a life in which people's reference points are far from being as stable as they should be. Managing to find one's way, holding to it and progressing over the course of time, testifies to a real aspiration for the Divine; this is praiseworthy. All our brothers and sisters are attended to according to their call and their commitment towards us — we who support this way of the heart at the highest level, to the extent possible. Our work is not in vain, and neither is that of our committed brothers and sisters. May they be convinced of this and act accordingly, under our blessings."
