Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, May 28, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

The malicious comments made by some people don't matter. These messages reach many sincere hearts that are open to this extraordinary transmission. They will remain a reference over time for this Mission. Seeing only the beautiful and the good is a strength in the face of adversity. Nothing is ever easy here below; such are the laws of this material world and all that characterises it. The lives of the Greatest Beings who worked on Earth were not easy; these beings went through so many ordeals, a fact which further underscores the magnitude of their action. Our Mission is advancing — is that not the most important aspect — its aura is growing and positioning itself definitively in this divine scheme.

"The whole of these writings is a precious asset, and they are treated accordingly; the Masters are seeing to it and ensuring their protection. This long journey of messages has had positive effects. We are well placed to assess this, and we are happy with the results. There is still much to do — time does its work, along with the work of the Master and the faith of our committed abhyasis; all this constitutes a precious whole. Many great things are still to come about and will leave their mark for a very long time on this way of the heart — a path whose action is effective on the hearts of all our brothers and sisters engaged in this journey that is like no other.

"Special blessings to all."
