My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, June 5, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

The ongoing story of these messages is beautiful; beyond written pages, it is supported by much love on both sides. At this level, it cannot be otherwise — only an energy as special as this can yield such results. These thousands of messages will remain in the memory of our Mission, and they will constitute a substantial contribution. The movement of life generates many changes. Our way will also evolve and adapt to circumstances; its spirit will defy time. The Masters of the past brought it to where it is, and the current Master will lend it unprecedented importance, as per the divine plans, to ensure its permanence in the world. The different countries in which our spiritual way is advancing will recognise it in its current spirit, and they will respect its principles. All will be able to adapt and conform to the rules and decisions of the incarnate Master, when, over time, the need for change will be felt for the good of all.

"Great things will come to be in this Mission: the construction of spaces and places to meet the growing needs of its rapid expansion. Ashrams are very important; charged accordingly, they are representative of a spiritual way whose action on the human level is unprecedented. That which determines it is not accessible to the understanding of all. The only thing that matters for our abhyasis is their eagerness to be committed to the evolution of both heart and mind, in order to achieve the best of this extraordinary quest.

"May grace pour into people's hearts, strengthening them in their efforts and their ability to integrate extraordinary principles. It is up to one and all to win over this sacred space, under our blessings."

Babuji Maharaj