Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, June 27, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried by grace, that which delights the soul. When the call is strong, grace manifests and operates as it pleases. This love is redeeming. It transforms the entire being offered to its splendour. How can we not say and repeat that such is the case for this extraordinary process; when beings are totally committed, they do reach the goal. We help them in their celestial quest. It is so nice to see a soul rising, detaching itself from the material world and becoming refined to our liking in order to achieve the best. This journey of Sahaj Marg, already long, has produced very positive results. We are very pleased with that and especially encouraged to carry on even more ardently with this process, for the benefit of a large number of brothers and sisters who are committed and confident in our action.

"In the current era, it is good to have a living Master, the custodian of our powers. We are guiding him, and we support him as much as possible in the materialisation of the effects of our action. Kamlesh is very receptive and sensitive to our action; his degree of subtlety is great, and he captures us perfectly in the support we grant him every day, even if it cannot be easily evaluated. No matter — the merging of our hearts is real and active in its effects. It is up to each of our brothers and sisters to take stock, to follow the best path in order to glimpse what an ardent and committed heart aspires for: the divine splendour manifested in the world of humans to the extent that it is called forth.

"To all, special blessings."
