My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, July 11, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

India has always been the cradle of great and beautiful souls; it is not the only one, but it has nonetheless this feature — the greatest number of such souls have fully manifested themselves in this country. India will continue to amaze. After many upheavals in the world, it will play a very important role. Such is not our point, but our abhyasis should rest assured that Sahaj Marg has not finished astonishing people with its many capabilities which are not yet revealed. All in good time. In many respects, the most surprising is yet to come. What matters is the advancement of our aspirants — their motivation to overcome the heaviness of today's world and the many disturbances it generates.

"A spiritual approach that is well understood and appropriately followed protects one from certain types of 'pollution'. They are numerous and in many domains. The way of the heart is and will remain over time the surest means of protecting oneself and integrating real values — those which, in spite of everything, elevate the soul in its progress towards the spheres where the best can happen under our constant action. The way of Sahaj Marg will win over people's hearts; it will expand more and more across the world, for the benefit of beings committed to this process. It is more active than it may seem, you can be sure. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être? Whatever future is in store for this world, spirituality remains the determining factor for the welfare of all our abhyasis; we see to it with great care."

"Special blessings."

Babuji Maharaj