Whispers from The Brighter World

Spiritual practice helps resolve certain personal problems when the aspirant really commits himself or herself and detaches from what is useless, focusing more easily on the main thing. We cannot resolve everything that relates to each one's life — such is not the purpose of our action. The best is accomplished in terms of the evolution of the being, allowing a more suitable vision of the meaning of life. An incarnation is never simple. The Masters themselves are not spared; they go through phases that are sometimes very painful. It has always been like that. The divine laws cannot be circumvented, and they are not really easy to understand; surrender, once again, is essential when situations cannot be changed.

Overcoming obstacles makes a person stronger and highlights his or her hidden side. Nothing is ever easy; we cannot solve everything, only help in our own manner for the true good of the aspirant and iron out some difficulties. One must undergo so many tests in an incarnation, each of which weaves a sensitive canvas on which are printed the important facts that are decisive in human evolution. In the shadows, in secrecy, we are working according to our capabilities to improve the fate of beings who are suffering, alas without being able to change everything. Nonetheless what is done is not negligible, even if it is not perceived by the person concerned. In our own manner, we see that all are helped, and so very blessed. This is not insignificant, and it makes it worth pursuing this path with determination.

The best to all, under our blessings.
