Sunday, August 8, 1999 - 8:00 a.m.

Yes, we understand, my daughter, you are not a machine; for months, you have been doing this work for us under difficult conditions.

"Don't worry, we know. You should rest, your health is important to us above all."

The Medium: "Thank you, Babuji, for your understanding."

"If I could not understand you, who could? You truly deserve a day of rest. We must borrow our past faces so that you can recognize us. We do not resemble them any more. We are close to you; make sure that you rest. You are in our hearts."

Babuji

The Medium: "I thank you all! I love you and I venerate you."