Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, October 17, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

Life is movement, perpetual change, yet in many respects it retains a remarkable inflexibility. Human beings often find themselves helpless and, in many circumstances, completely overwhelmed by it. They believe they have their destiny under control, but it is not so. In everything, what must be happens. This is how it is. Turbulences are numerous. They lead human beings to the path that is theirs, while often leaving them helpless in the face of unexpected situations. One cannot avoid one's karma. From one lifetime to the next a surprising path is realised, one that is meant to lead the being towards wisdom. A spiritual path guides the seeker, leading where he or she unconsciously wishes to go. It takes time to come to the realisation that having an incarnate Master saves precious time and frees one from a burden that is sometimes very heavy. Everything is done behind the scenes, far from the gaze of humans. They are not able to truly assess the scourges that hamper humanity's progress towards a desired evolution – one that is decisive for all who inwardly call upon the grace they would wish for in order to truly progress. That time will come, it is foreseen, by the grace of the power of the incarnate Masters, who work for the good, in their name.

Babuji