Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, October 27, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

Our dear and great son Kamlesh has brilliantly entered into his role as spiritual Master of the Sahaj Marg Mission. It is not easy to adapt to such a function; it requires many capabilities and the inner strength to face up to such a challenge. The Mission is expanding and requiring greater attention at all levels. This entails adapting the approach to suit current times while enabling a wider action in all parts of the world to keep it very close to the Source and the spiritual Master who embodies it. We are working in our own manner so that all remain united in the original spirit of this way of the heart — an extraordinary way whose work is effective on both the material and spiritual planes. These two planes are not separate; they are as one, united by a very special vibration that is undetectable to most of our abhyasis, but surely very active. The brothers and sisters who join us are themselves able to assess the effects of this approach; they have benefited from it, thereby being able to save valuable time in this new life that awaits them. 'All is nothing, God is everything,' it is said; these words are evidenced in their real action which is, in a sense, stunning. Following such a process saves valuable time and allows one to cheerfully overcome the barriers of the material plane. Another space opens up to the seeker, a space that is unbounded and full of resources of every kind.

"Blessings and support to all, in advancing further and further on this special path — one that is potent in spite of its apparent simplicity."
