Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, November 14, 2015 – 10:00 a.m.

When will this hatred between peoples end? So much better could be done for the good of humanity. Once it arrives at that stage, it will be able to take a big step and reach a key point in human evolution at levels human beings cannot even imagine. Blinded by hatred and incessant resentments, humans remain confined within the limits of a distressing materialism. May we, at our level, send through this way of the heart enough good vibrations capable of surpassing the limits of our Mission. All of us here are attentive to this suffering world. These sufferings generate a heavy atmosphere, a vibratory state that has repercussions on all of creation. Is wisdom so difficult to attain? Is it too much to ask humans to master what is within some of them – this constant climate of hatred that is so harmful to all that lives here below? The sufferings of this world touch us immensely; they affect us at levels you cannot imagine, so great is the subtlety of these levels, multiplying the echoes that reach us.

May all our abhyasis truly unite on this Earth and thus create a sacred space capable of helping the greatest number realise how precious a given lifetime is, and how it truly deserves to be respected and useful to all that surrounds it. May a general raising of awareness take place and transform this mad world. Such is our most ardent wish.
