Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, December 4, 2015 — 10:00 a.m.

Each of our brothers and sisters has his or her own struggles, difficulties, and even sufferings. That is how this world is: so painful in some respects, yet gratifying when it is supported by a spiritual process — one in which the living Master is endowed with powers he would not have on other planes of consciousness. This is a grace worth stressing once again for this Sahaj Marg Mission that is much more vital than it seems. There are a few things that human beings are unable to assess with regard to their evolution, particularly in terms of what is provided to each one by this spiritual path concerning the subtlety of the sensitive points of the heart. Here, a very special work is being done that cannot yet be detected objectively. It does not matter; the main thing is there, and the results prove it. After all these years we can evaluate this, and we are happy with the outcome. It can only provide further motivation for us and for all our brothers and sisters in their respective roles.

"Nothing is perfect in this world; a spiritual Master is no exception to this principle. He can make mistakes, as we all do, but by divine grace we have the opportunity to make up for them when needed. No resentment should remain on a path like this; that would curb an expected and necessary action. May each of our brothers and sisters take stock of their process and eventually make the necessary decisions.

"Very special blessings to all."
