Do you think that I am absent from these encounters of the heart? Certainly not. Your steadfastness in serving us is a clear act of love, as your heart surrenders to us with such grace and spontaneity. You have done such remarkable work. Think of that day when I was seated in this armchair and we conversed and let Love express itself under the benevolent gaze of the Great and Heavenly Babuji Maharaj. This very long period of silence was intentional; everything has its raison d'être, and this is worth repeating here. We are preparing the future of the Mission; great projects are being considered, and the Hierarchy of Masters is attending to this.

Soon you will come and join us, and you will then be able to see and especially appreciate what is being prepared for the Mission of tomorrow where your role, in your next and final incarnation, will not be insignificant. It will please you, undoubtedly; we know you so well – love guides you every day, and you relay our words with happiness. Spare yourself, dearest sister. We are by your side in this difficult passage. You have all our love and constant support. Do your best, as always; you have our very special blessings. Be at peace.

He who was your Master in this life,

Parthasarathi
