Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, January 13, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

The succession of days carries an accumulation of experiences, all of which are beneficial for the human being who becomes incarnate in order to learn and grow strong in the face of multiple and varied tests. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être! This fact is not easy to accept. When the time has come for the final assessment, one finds justification for life's complexity. It takes so many incarnations to satisfy this need for excellence! Our committed abhyasis are working in this direction; however, they are helped considerably by the apparently small means at their disposal. Even if human reasoning cannot grasp the whole truth, reality is there and it prevails in its own manner.

"Following a spiritual path as proposed by Sahaj Marg denotes a real aspiration for the Divine and a deep conviction that such a path is right and can help one progress. Isn't this what matters? There are so many gaps to be filled as well as spaces and sensitive points to be revealed. There lies the purpose of such an approach. It can lead one very far in the discovery of an inner potential that has been ignored up until now. Becoming aware of the need to act with real means confirms this inner call that has been neglected for so long. Life in the long run is full of surprises. When the soul opens up to the higher reality, it transforms the being and awakens within each one this profound aspiration for the Divine. Thus begins a true journey."
