Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, January 22, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

To see only the good and the beautiful in all things is a strength. Dwelling on the many drawbacks of an incarnation does not help one progress. It takes time and continuous effort to attain wisdom – the wisdom that surpasses materiality by responding only to what is strictly necessary. Following a spiritual path involves an engagement of the heart, a profound aspiration for the Divine, one that cannot be controlled; it emerges in each person as it sees fit, at the opportune moment.

Arriving at this stage opens up limitless perspectives, humanly indefinable but so rich in discoveries of all kinds. To surrender to this power is delightful; it infuses the whole being with this special vibration that cannot truly be appreciated. Opening one's heart in this manner allows one to take a big step. Nothing can be forced, each one remains free to engage, or not, in order to progress as is fitting. It takes time to understand where the essential thing lies; so many aspects are to be considered here below. The true path, the one that transports the soul to the delights it yearns for, is only revealed with time. Happy are the fulfilled souls, those who surrender to the higher power without seeking to understand the meaning of this felicity – one that is promised and experienced with delectation. What tomorrow will be, none can know. The most elaborate projects within the journey of one's life do not always have the hoped for developments. Interiorisation provides answers and, with time, they are accepted for the greatest good of the aspirant, who is supported and carried by our care, though we cannot spare one from everything. So it is under our very special blessings.
