Until the end, we will be by your side. You give and you receive; there lies the very principle of these extraordinary exchanges. These messages will remain unique among their kind, we have said it enough. They carry this very special love that links us. It is the result of numerous lives and it will not end, you can be sure. Time will hold the memory of this beautiful story – one that defines you in relation to these writings which are so special for our Mission.

You act exclusively out of love. This is to be emphasised, though we don't mean to single you out in any way. Do not feel embarrassed; your dear Kamlesh, our very great son who is vested with our powers, appreciates them properly and will be able to make the most of them.

The Sahaj Marg way will leave its mark on these times that are dominated by the material power of rich countries. A spiritual approach like the one we offer can only help our brothers and sisters, at all levels. This practice, which is not demanding, allows for a significant balance to be established in each one of them. Our continuous repetitions are not useless; they make up the fabric of this egregore, which is so often mentioned here, and for good reason. Not everything can be revealed at the present time, which is very limited with respect to people's appreciation of phenomena. A time will come when the full truth will emerge on many aspects of life and the multiple incarnations they entail.

Be at peace, dear blessed scribe. He who was your incarnate Master is always attentive to your person and to the entire Mission that is so dear to him – you can all be sure of this. With all his blessings and much love.
