Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 2, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

As you know, repetitions are necessary, and in this lies the very principle of life. They are so very constructive. Following a spiritual path calls for a commitment and 'constant remembrance' to better immerse oneself in this special energy that generates the best, over time. It is not easy for a person to assess the distance covered. The importance of this achievement is expressed in its totality here, where our faithful abhyasis find themselves in a different context and discover the reality of this unparalleled way. Time will highlight the benefits it generates. This is worth repeating so as to encourage our brothers and sisters to be truly committed to this unique path that fosters individual evolution. At the dawn of the new era, this path has a special place. It is preparing a state – an atmosphere, one could say – that is conducive to a planned and unprecedented evolution.

The Mission will have to adapt to some changes; all will happen in due time. In his own manner, the current Master is preparing the structures of the Mission of the future, which will be widely established on Earth. Sahaj Marg is rich in resources, and they will be increasingly revealed as this way adapts to the realities of future life on Earth. All is well. More and more, Sahaj Marg will find its place in this evolutionary context.

May faith and commitment carry you all to the highest level.
