Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, March 6, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

These old messages are indeed of an entirely different essence; this poetic series is not lacking in interest, and it would be good in the future, at the discretion of your dear Master Kamlesh, to share these messages with abhyasis interested in such a presentation. Time lends things their true value, and the rereading of these messages will touch many beings. In this, love remains the keyword. These very special concepts of surrender and commitment of the heart and Spirit remain paramount. The Mission is becoming stronger in its sacred foundations. Blessed by the Hierarchy, it is advancing in the direction of unprecedented expansion; it will leave its mark on the world, you can be sure. Much remains to be done to reach the desired level on the material and spiritual planes. Nothing is ever easy. Where would the challenge lie if it were not so? The Mission will have to adapt to coming changes and will emerge stronger and more established in the world. The vision of the future is very clear here, as are the divine plans in light of an action that is already foreseen and decisive for all humanity. India will spread its wings and one day become again, as in ancient times, one of the world's beacons. May all our brothers and sisters become stronger in their spiritual quest and thus contribute to the great expansion of this Mission.

Blessings to all.
