Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 9, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

These messages are the result of a very special transmission from which our abhyasis benefit. Whether they feel it or not, its effects are undeniable. Why would we give them with such persistence if this were not so? These writings will remain the hallmark of our Mission, and they will be handed on for a very long time on this Earth, just as other teachings have been and will continue to be. Each of the spiritual paths established here on Earth constitutes a lasting benefit, one that supports the teaching of the Masters – those who become incarnate for a specific purpose and according to divine plans. The means of communication with 'the beyond', as it is called, are the same; the broadcasting [of these messages] through current modes is so much more efficient on the material plane. The dissemination of these messages across all continents in record time is astounding, compared to what was possible two thousand years ago. Are human beings really aware of what they are being offered today? Is progress at this level a real benefit? This remains to be seen. But everything has become so easy in so many domains that at least this aspect of modern life can be appreciated.

Our Mission benefits from this unprecedented expansion at all levels, which facilitates involvement on the material plane. Not neglecting what is essential to one's life, for one's personal evolution, remains decisive in this long journey toward spiritual realisation, the true purpose of any incarnation.

May all our brothers and sisters be committed to this process – resolutely. They have our unwavering support. To all, the best.
