The doors will soon open for you. You will benefit from a special and subtle energy. Be happy, you are climbing the steps with a heavy burden to carry, but the result is there. Your Master does not forget you. As you can see, you are not an individual lost in the mass. He follows your progress with interest. In this incarnation, you can only communicate on other planes. In spite of that, your relationship is strong, even if you are playing at ignoring one another here below."
