Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 23, 2016 — 10:00 a.m.

There is a music resonating in your heart; it calls for this contact which results in one of these numerous messages that are valued by many of our brothers and sisters. Thus are [their hearts] connected to ours, and we appreciate this magical chain capable of uniting so many beautiful souls that are thirsting for a simple method — one that can produce very good results which they themselves cannot really imagine. The future will reveal even further the benefits of this method. It seems simple, yet it leads to beautiful progress in this unparalleled upliftment. Repeating is necessary; what would life be without this system of ceaseless repetition capable of building the best that is possible on the material and spiritual planes.

All Great Beings, Masters of the past and present, go through phases that can be difficult. They engage in self-examination on many points, without really succeeding at elucidating all the mysteries of life, managing it as best they can without being able to resolve everything as they would so often wish. Everyone does what they can; the commitment of the heart, uprightness, the innermost desire to do well — these all constitute an important asset. Many Great Beings of the past blamed themselves for not reaching a level of absolute perfection. This cannot be achieved; this world does not encourage such perfection, but it effectively prepares valiant hearts that are capable of achieving the best possible level here below. The most perfect masterpiece can yet have small areas of shadow capable of enhancing the entire work of art.

This is how it is; the best to all.
