Whispers from The Brighter World

Surrender — this is what determines the path and progress of the abhyasi, by which one becomes freed from one's chains, thus achieving the goal more easily. There lies an Eden, the best that can be, and reaching it is the most beautiful success. So many incarnations have paved the way for what all of you have become today. It takes time and multiple tests to reach a stage of actual understanding. This achievement is surely valuable; one's life is not easy and not always generous, at least in appearance, since tests are highly necessary to a person's journey.

Acceptance saves time, averts clashes and sometimes clarifies situations that are difficult to put up with on the human level. The school of life is never finished. Until the end, it plans out everything in such a way that it could not be otherwise. When the time of delight has come, all current evils will lose their significance. Advancing in the way of love — this very subtle energy capable of generating surprising results — is edifying for the remainder of the journey. Is it not the most beautiful success! Achieving it is a rare blessing. Each one's success is being prepared under our blessings and with the help of a steadfast and fervent practice, one that leads to the delight of the soul and to our greatest joy.

Special blessings to all.
