Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, April 2, 2016 – 10:00 a.m.

ife creates life; it is an eternal beginning. The divine laws contribute to its expansion and ceaseless manifestation, which occurs over all creation. The numerous planets where this vibration reigns are as one, maintained by a very special energy to form one vibrationally coherent whole and to resist the many phenomena that characterise them. The real mystery of life is and will remain inaccessible to human knowledge. This world is observed and studied by higher powers, of which human beings have no idea. All these laws remain very mysterious for them. Trying to understand such laws is laudable but in reality does not foster true knowledge. Such knowledge is passed on by way of the path of a true spirituality, the deepening of the creative aspect of the divine laws whose effects are numerous. All this is complicated for human beings and completely overwhelms them. Seeking to understand is commendable, but a real spiritual progress is based on surrender and detachment from materiality as far as possible.

That is wisdom itself. This attitude is the best; it promotes the expansion of the soul to bring it to realisation, the goal of each life cycle in this world of matter. This whole discourse may be unclear, but it summarises in its own way what human beings must understand and accept, in order to progress. Nothing is ever simple, hence our endless blessings that they may achieve the best.
